FIRST QUESTION BEFORE MIXED COMMISSION IS TRAFFIC IN ARMS

Subcommittee Decides Ratification of Convention Signed at St. Germain, Prohibiting Sale in Africa, Is Essential to Control.

JAPANESE DIVIDED ON CONFERENCE PLAN

Bureaucrats Fear Anglo-Saxons Will Dominate Washington Meeting; Liberals Would Go Ahead and Present Tokio's Case.

PARIS, July 18.—(Discussion of disarmament questions was taken up today by the subcommittee of the temporary mixed commission for the reduction of armaments, appointed by the League of Nations, which began its sessions here Saturday. The subcommittee's sessions were private. They will continue until it has framed reports for the full commission.

The first question taken up today was that of the traffic in arms. The subcommittee decided, it was learned, that one of the first essentials in this connection would be to obtain ratification of the convention signed at St. Germain at the same time as the Austrian peace treaty, prohibiting the sale of arms in Africa and other places where such sales would be likely to encourage trouble. Ratification by the European Powers of this convention is declared by members of the commission to have been delayed because the United States failed to ratify.

The subcommittee also discussed the private manufacture of arms, which is regarded as attended by many dangers, and looked into ways and means of controlling such manufacture. Another subcommittee, presided over by Rene Viviani of France, took up the question of control of armaments by mutual agreement, and Leon Jouhaux, laboring representative from France, offered his proposed amendment to the covenant of the League of Nations covering this point as the first subject for discussion. The subcommittee will decide whether to report this amendment as one to be considered by the assembly of the league.

Opinion in Japan Divided on Question of Joining in Conference.

TOKIO, Saturday, July 16.—Japan today seems an empire divided on the great issues created by the summons of President Harding to a conference on disarmament and Far Eastern problems. On one side, largely in the ranks of the bureaucrats, there is fear that the proposed conference will be dominated by the Anglo-Saxons and may result in strangling Japan's political and economic development in Asia.

On the other side is a powerful liberal group, which demands that Japan enter into the deliberations fearlessly, submitting her wants resolutely, combatting for them with confidence and not opposing just claims. Hagglings and bickering, they insist, will ruin the cause of Japan.

Both camps agree that Japan is facing a crisis, requiring tact and largeness of vision. Many members of the Privy Council, according to the well-informed newspaper Chugai Shogyo Shimpo, are pessimistic about the conference; they contend that the proposal to discuss problems and policies of the Far East indicates co-operation between the United States and Great Britain in an attempt to settle international questions favorably for them, an indication of which was to be seen in the attitude of England toward the Anglo-Japanese alliance.

For China. The invitation to China to join in the conference, it is further urged, is additional evidence in support of the theory of a secret purpose on the part of the Anglo-Saxon nations in calling the conference. They argue that China doubtless will strive, with the support of England and America, for a settlement of questions in her favor, resulting in injury to Japanese interests in China. The councilors are quoted as saying:

"Japan should make participation conditional on the settlement of all questions between Japan and the United States, including opening the economic door of all territories in the Pacific to Orientals."

The newspapers Jiji Shimpo and Nichi Nichi condemn the pessimists and urge Japan to go forward without hesitation and present her case to the world. The Nichi Nichi says: "We have become a sensitive, nervous nation—neurotic. If we are isolated we need not necessarily fear it. It is more important for us to destroy the national disease of fear and suspicion and achieve our resurrection."

Developments in Plans for Washington Conference Wait on Japan's Reply.

WASHINGTON, July 18.—Further concrete development in plans of President Harding for international disarmament conferences, probably to begin in Washington this fall, awaited today response from Japan to additional communications understood to present more fully views of the administration as to desirability of reviewing at the same time Far Eastern problems. There seems to be little doubt among officials here, however, that the full program will be carried out.

Tokio dispatches have clearly indicated the division of opinion in Japan as to the wise course of that Government in relation to the proposed Far Eastern discussions, and there is no evidence here today of any desire to press for an early reply from Japan to that portion of the President's invitation. It is clear, however, that officials expected the interchange of views now in progress between Washington and Tokio as to the scope to be given the Far Eastern conference to result eventually in full acceptance by Japan.

U. S.-JAPANESE NEGOTIATIONS ON YAP NEAR CLOSE

By the Associated Press.

TOKIO, July 18.—Negotiations between the United States and Japan relative to the status of the island of Yap have progressed so favorably

that it is now confidently expected a settlement of that question will have been reached before convening of the conference, called by President Harding, to discuss armament and settlement of problems in the Pacific, according to the Kokusai News Agency, which quotes "well informed sources."

Japan, it is asserted, heartily welcomes the inclusion of China in the proposed conference, as Chinese and Siberian problems are expected to form important topics for discussion and Chinese participation, consent and understanding, are essential if any of the decisions reached are to be put into effective operation.

Opportunity at Washington Seen.

The conference is declared to offer an excellent opportunity for the Powers to reach unanimous decision on Far Eastern questions, although it is pointed out that historical and other considerations affecting the various nations may make immediate enforcement of conference decisions a matter of some difficulty. Many leaders of Japanese thought are expressing the opinion that Japan will have at Washington the golden opportunity of her history to make known to the world her desires and reach the understanding with the United States which is regarded as so vital to Japan's future. Despite the reservation contained in Japan's reply to President Harding's invitation to take part in the conference, the answer is regarded as virtual acceptance.

It is forecast that when America defines the problems to be taken up at the conference, Japan will prepare a list of questions which she deems essential for discussion. These, it is expected, will be roughly grouped under the headings of population, food and raw materials, the last of which, it is contended, should be freely available to Japan, including cotton from the United States and India.

It is generally held that the question of Japanese emigration to the American continents and the British dominions must be discussed in connection with Japan's population problem.

ELOPING WIFE OF PASTOR TO RETURN

She and Companion Elude Interviewers at Rutherford, N. J., Where Man Guards House.

Special to the Post-Dispatch. NEW YORK, July 18.—In a comfortable, small, detached house in Brooklyn, Mr. and Mrs. Robert T. Troland, a distinctly couple, look with tear-dimmed eyes at a picture of their only child, a daughter, that is, in fact, turned to the wall. Between Mr. and Mrs. Troland, who had been married for 12 years, and their 12-year-old son, who feels that he has reached a safe haven in a stormy sea and begs to remain with them. The boy is their grandson, Ross Durea, who accompanied his mother and 9-year-old sister, Gladys, when Mrs. Durea left her husband's home with Earl Ver Nooy, a neighbor.

To Ross, the expedition was nothing more than a vacation trip. Weeks before school closed, his mother had written to his grandmother that he would spend the vacation period at the Darling home in Brooklyn. It was two years since he had seen either of his grandparents. They, as well as he, had been eagerly looking forward to the visit.

At Policeman's Home. At the home of Policeman Joseph Bobrowski in Rutherford, N. J., a line of automobiles and a battery of cameras, flanked by newspaper reporters, and the ensemble surrounded by well-filled, sight-seeing verandas, indicated that the policeman's modest dwelling had suddenly become known to fame.

That fame is derived from the fact that its hospitable roof now shelters the runaway couple, who wish it distinctly understood that they are occupying separate rooms and have paid a week's rent in advance. Apparently Ver Nooy and his companion, Mrs. Durea, were dinner guests yesterday of the Bobrowski family. While talking to a woman visitor, Ver Nooy busied himself with household tasks in the kitchen with a dexterity indicating much previous practice. From his appearance he might be judged no older than 25 years.

Mrs. Durea was not averse to meeting visitors. Neither did she appear in the least displeased with the amount of attention she was attracting. She indicated her perfect willingness to talk.

But Policeman Bobrowski registered complete disapproval of newspapers in general and interviews in particular. He referred visitors after truth to the police station.

Guard on Porch.

Seated on the porch vigorously defending the runaway husband of a deserted wife and the runaway wife of a deserted husband from the stream of visitors, whenever Policeman Bobrowski found it necessary to withdraw temporarily or run into the street to drive off and threaten some daring camera man, was a middle-aged man of foreign speech.

This guard insisted that Mrs. Durea and Ver Nooy were not guilty of murder and should therefore be permitted to continue in their own way without question.

The woman who stood in the doorway, a baby clasped in her arms, who Policeman Bobrowski said was his wife, appeared visibly moved when told of the Brooklyn home with the picture that was turned toward the wall.

"Newspapers are not respectable and people who write for them are not a respectable calling," the Post-Dispatch representative was informed by the guardians of youthful morals seated on the porch of this house, that has served as a refuge to the Monticello elopers. "These people here have a perfect right to do what they please without newspaper interference."

The last word went out to the press representative from the Bobrowski house, that, for the sake of her children, Mrs. Durea purposed to return to her home in Monticello to day.

COURT CALLS LIQUOR CASE VERDICT DISGRACE TO STATE

Jury Scored by Judge Miller for Acquitting Main in Suit Brought by Police.

After three policemen had testified today in the Court of Criminal Correction that George Troffnoff, 327 E. Main street, sold one of them a quart of whiskey in the presence of others, a jury today, after being out 25 minutes, returned a verdict of not guilty.

Judge Calvin Miller said: "You men are unfit to sit in a case of this kind. Your verdict is a disgrace to the State."

He had intended to have another case tried by the same jurors, who had been borrowed from Judge Hochdoerfer's division, but he discharged them and told them to report to Judge Hochdoerfer tomorrow.

"There is no use of trying another case before those fellows," he said. Troffnoff's defense was that he gave the liquor to one of the policemen, who complained of having a pain in his stomach.

The jurors denounced by Judge Miller are on the panel that has been drawn to try the case against a Republican politician who was arrested in a poker raid at Hotel Claridge.

PAJAMA-CLAD AUTO THEFT SUSPECTS BREAK JAIL

Trio Who Sowed Bars at Paris (Mo.) Jail Two Months Ago Are

Special to the Post-Dispatch. MEXICO, Mo., July 18.—Clad only in pajamas, three Kansas City automobile thief suspects who have been confined in the Monroe County jail at Paris, 25 miles north of here, escaped just before daybreak this morning. It was their second escape from the same jail in two months.

The trio, who have been under several aliases, were charged with stealing an Indiana car and were being held near Monroe City two months ago and lodged in the county jail to await trial. While there a woman threw back a window of the jail, which is on the third floor of the courthouse building.

After sawing the bars they escaped and were caught after chase by a Sheriff's posse near Holliday, Mo., and returned to jail. Police are searching for the woman who, they believe was responsible for the second escape. Sheriff's deputies are searching the woods for the men.

TAX EXEMPTION GIVES IMPETUS TO NEW YORK HOME BUILDING

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, July 18.—New York's home-building campaign has passed the one hundred million dollar mark since the tax exemption ordinance went into effect. Harry Curran, president of the Borough of Manhattan, announced.

Since February 25, plans have been filed and construction begun for dwellings to house 20,897 families as compared with plans for buildings costing $27,140,000 to house 4,894 families during the same period last year.

CROSSING SIGNALS REQUESTED

By the Associated Press.

The Missouri Public Service Commission was asked at Jefferson City today by Probate Judge Hodgson of St. Louis County, who is also president of the St. Louis County Automobile Association, to order the railroad crossing signals to be installed at the crossing of the railroad at Valley Park.

Hodgson also asked that the Frisco be required to riprap the bank of the Meramec along the Allenton-Pacific road, where it was relocated by request of the railroad, between the railroad and the river bank. The understanding was that the railroad would protect the relocated road from damage by the river.

STATE GIVES VERSION OF BASEBALL PLOT

Prosecutor Says Burns Asked Clotte If World's Series Could Be Fixed.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, July 18.—The defense in the baseball scandal trial won its first victory this morning when Judge Hugo Friend ruled the State cannot refer to statements of Eddie Clotte, Joe Jackson and Claude Williams, before the grand jury, as "confessions."

The State won a victory when Judge Friend overruled a defense motion to dismiss the eleventh and twelfth counts of the indictment, which charge eight former members of the White Sox with conspiring to cheat and defraud the club and Ray Schalk, catcher, from the winner's share of the World's Series money.

Assistant State's Attorney Gorman, in charge of the prosecution, in his opening statement, said Eddie Clotte met Bill Burns, former White Sox pitcher, in New York, about Sept. 16, 1919, when it was certain the Sox would win the league pennant. Burns, the prosecutor said, asked Clotte if the world's series could be "fixed," and Clotte replied if there is a chance I will let you know.

The pitcher, the prosecutor said, told Burns it would take about $100,000, and asked Burns if he could get someone to finance it. Burns saw William Maharg of Philadelphia, and Arnold Rothstein of New York, but Rothstein refused to go into the deal, Gorman declared.

Before Series Opened.

When the Sox left New York, Gorman said, Clotte told Burns to report the arrangements to him at the Warner Hotel in Chicago. A day or two before the series opened at Cincinnati Abe Attell, former prizefighter, and Hal Chase, former ball player, met Burns in New York and asked him to go to Cincinnati with them and tell the White Sox players Rothstein was ready to finance the project, Gorman said. Burns, Gorman said, was surprised, but Attell explained that Rothstein was under obligation to him because he had once saved the New Yorker's life in a shooting scrape.

Burns went to Cincinnati that night, meeting Maharg in Philadelphia. At Cincinnati they met Attell, Ben and Louis Levy of Des Moines, and David Zeiser of Des Moines, all of whom were stopping in one room at the same hotel where the White Sox were quartered. Burns took Attell to Clotte's room and the indictment says the players Rothstein was very rich and introduced a companion as Rothstein's right-hand man. The players who were present asked $100,000, Gorman said, $20,000 to be paid after each game. There was some discussion as to how the games were to be lost, and it was finally decided the team should try to win when Clotte pitched, in order to help him obtain a good contract for the following year, Gorman asserted.

After Cincinnati was the first game the players wanted their $20,000, Gorman said. Burns went to Attell, but the latter said all the money had been bet, and could not be collected until the following day. The next day Attell showed Burns a telegram reading: "Have sent you 20 grand." It was signed "A. R." When they went to the telegraph office they found, however, that the money had not been received. Burns got suspicious and after the Reds won the second game he went to Attell's room. Attell, Gorman said, lifted the mattress and showed Burns a number of big rolls of bills. Two other men in the room were counting two suitcases filled with money, he said. Attell handed $10,000 to Burns and he delivered it to the players, explaining Attell had refused to pay more because the rumors of something wrong had reached so many gamblers that the betting odds were short.

The same night Attell wanted to know about the game for the following day, and was told that little Dick Kerr would pitch and that the

DEMOCRATS DENY THEY PLAN FIGHT ON NEW CONSTITUTION

Secretary of State Committee Denies Connection With Reported Plan for Campaign of Opposition.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, July 18.—The Democratic State Committee this afternoon denied any connection with the reported plan for a State-wide campaign against a new Constitution. Thomas H. Fisher, secretary of the committee, is authority for this statement. The only Democratic opposition which has been heard of here is from Frank Armstrong of Harrisonville. Formerly publicity man for the State Committee, but no longer connected with the party organization.

According to the report a propaganda campaign against the Constitution plan is to be voted on in August by the voters. The plan has been in 42 Democratic rural newspapers. Fisher said the committee has done nothing for or against the Constitution plan.

players in the deal "would not win for a bushy." Gorman said. It was this game that Kerr won.

When the team reached Chicago, Maharg and Attell met Burns at a downtown hotel for a conference. Later Sport Sullivan of Boston and Rachel Brown of New York, more of the alleged gamblers in on the deal, visited Clotte and the other players at a South Side hotel. After the conference Clotte went to his State's two-star witness.

Geddon, Mr. Gorman said, met "Suede" Risberg, one of the defendants, here shortly before the series and announced he intended to bet on the Sox. Risberg warned him to "lay off that stuff" because there was "a deal on." A few days later Risberg, the State's Attorney said, sent Geddon a telegram containing the word "ranch" in accordance with a prearranged code, thereby notifying the St. Louis player that the deal had been completed and the Sox would lose.

The prosecutor announced he would abandon the first, second and third counts of the indictment, which charged the defendants with obtaining several hundred dollars from Charles K. Nims, who bet on the Sox.

Nearly two weeks, during which nearly 600 men were examined to select a jury, defense and prosecution today entered the trial of seven former White Sox players and four alleged gamblers charged with conspiracy to permit Cincinnati to win the 1919 world series from Chicago. The defense had a half dozen motions to offer.

There were indications that the jury may be asked to decide merely whether such a conspiracy as the State charges was against Illinois laws rather than if such a conspiracy actually existed.

Deputy Stuckman today tendered his resignation. His written notice to the Sheriff said he was resigning "for reasons best known to yourself." The resignation was accepted. Stuckman had been asked some time ago to resign by Sept. 1 to reduce the force in the interest of economy.

GUARDSMEN WHO ATTEND CAMP TO GET ARMY PAY

Commander of First Regiment Urges Men to Enlist in Time for Vaccination at State Fair.

Col. C. S. Thornton, commanding the First Regiment, Missouri National Guard, has been notified by Adjutant-General Raupp that men who enlist in the National Guard some time prior to Aug. 7 will receive regular army pay for their service during the camp to be held at the State Fair, Aug. 7 to 21.

The camp will be held in connection with the Centennial celebration and the State Fair. Speaking in regard to the advantages of the camp, Col. Thornton said: "It affords an excellent vacation at the same time with pay for members of the National Guard. The enlistments have been increasing in the last few days and today St. Louis has a large First Regiment than ever before, excepting in war time. St. Louis should be represented at the fair by an overstrength regiment."

The recruiting station at the corner, at Grand avenue and Market street, is open every Tuesday, Thursday and Friday nights and there will be an officer on duty every day until time to leave for the camp. The Chamber of Commerce, Veterans Corps, and other organizations are formulating plans to have a certain day set aside at the Centennial to be known as St. Louis day. The First Regiment will be paraded on that day for inspection.

SHERIFF WOULD QUESTION WIDOW IN HEMMING CASE

District Attorney, However, Expresses View She Was No Way Responsible for Killing by Servant.

WIDOW WAS TWICE ACCUSED OF LARCENY

Was Arrested in Connection With Plan to Publish Book; Previous Matrimonial Troubles.

Missed Wire From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, July 18.—John J. Hemming, sheriff of Suffolk county, who did not figure in the reports of the New York Times, was arrested Thursday night by Frank Eberhart, caretaker of Mrs. Hemming's home at Duck Island, suddenly focused attention on himself yesterday.

He announced that he was not going to publish the status of the Hemming case and propounded several questions which he declared Mrs. Hemming should be required to answer.

District Attorney Young, when informed of the sheriff's statement, would hear that officer today. His opinion, founded upon the latest report of the killing made by the district attorney, was that Mrs. Hemming was in no way legally responsible in any way for the slaying of her husband.

He had lured him to her home, he said, but she again and again begged her husband not to go. It was he who was insistent that all his wife's warnings and advice.

The act of Eberhart in luring Hemming was that of an assassin, in his opinion. The turning of Henry Glover Hemming's home did not end with his wife's funeral yesterday.

His apartment at 110 West 86th street was productive of an outbreak by the widow, Mrs. Helen Henderson-Thorne-Hemming, and John G. Hemming, her stepson.

Mrs. Hemming, an excited language in her manner, denounced her stepson, saying he purposely had failed to tell her with the hour of the funeral. The funeral was delayed an hour by the shooting.

place, added new details to the case. Schmidt told of picking up his employer at the Pennsylvania Station Thursday and finding Mrs. Hemming with him, and taking them to Hemming's home at 310 West Eighty-sixth street.

According to the chauffeur, the trip from the West Eighty-sixth street house to Duck Island was quiet. At no time did he hear cross words. The chauffeur also said that Hemming, in the face of the caretaker's threats, said to his wife: "Come to the car, and let us go back to the city." But, the chauffeur said, Mrs. Hemming remained quiet, while her servant threatened her husband with death. Even when her husband said: "I dare you to shoot," according to the chauffeur, she said nothing whatever.

Querin supplied more details of this altercation. He told newspaper men that Hemming and Eberhart had exchanged insults just before the shooting. He also declared that, although he expected Eberhart to take measures to keep Hemming off the place, as Mrs. Hemming had instructed him to do, he was not prepared for such a scene as he witnessed.

"He was very loyal," Querin said of Eberhart. "Hemming was a brute."

HOUSE PASSES ST. LOUIS PROPERTY CONDEMNATION BILL

Measure Would Enable City to Act in Cases Outside of Border for Public Use.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., July 18.—The House today passed, 78 to 29, a bill by Representative Elgel of St. Louis to authorize the City of St. Louis to condemn property outside the city for public use. Elgel said the city owned a number of institutions in the county for which it expected to buy more property to permit expansion. Condemnation proceedings in such a case would have to be brought in the courts of St. Louis County.

Representative Heege of St. Louis County made a fight against the bill, trying to arouse the rural members against it.

Six St. Louis members were absent. Representatives Horner, Manning, Moore, Smith, Straub, Razovsky, Rothschild and Weber were absent.

"Green" Union Among European Peasants Growing in Power

Organization Bids Fair to Exercise Great Influence on Continent Shortly.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
LONDON, July 18.—Almost unnoticed the "Green International," an organization of peasants, has raised its head in Central and Eastern Europe in a manner which gives promise of exerting great influence in this part of the world in the near future. As pointed out by the Budapest correspondent of the Manchester Guardian:

"The most powerful class in these parts of the world is rising steadily into power almost unconscious of its tremendous strength and of the immense possibilities concerned."

A meeting of the "Green International" will be held in Paris in the near future. Preliminary meetings of the "Green International" in Paris and Vienna, gave the first impulse to this world-wide organization of peasants. Later, serious difficulties were encountered because of French unwillingness to co-operate with German agricultural representatives.

The meeting in Paris was arranged by the French Syndicate Agricoles. Germany will be represented at the conference, and there also will be present delegates from the Spanish Catholic peasant party, from the Swiss Bauernbund, Signor Mauri, Minister of Agriculture in the new Italian cabinet and Bulgarians, Belgians and Polish representatives. The Syndicate Agricoles have asked all countries to send peasant members to the meeting, if possible.

More Made for Dismissal.

At the outset of the hearing, Attorneys W. L. Igoe and Vance J. Higgs moved for dismissal of the suit on the ground that the bill was filed, not on behalf of individuals, but on behalf of an association, and that it alleged a conspiracy in restraint of trade, whereas it did not say that the plaintiff printers did an interstate business. Igoe contended there had been a misjoinder of plaintiffs, and contended that no individual among the plaintiffs was financially interested in the business of any other.

Higgs contended the purpose of the application was to enjoin the carrying out of a wrongful conspiracy against all members of the open shop printers. He declared there was any conspiracy "that destroys the interstate business of 51 members," and that it was proper to join the plaintiffs.

In reply to questions from the court, Houts said, "We want to join any assaults on the employees or customers of the plaintiffs or threats against them or persons seeking employment or abusive language against them or any form of intimidation against the employees or those seeking employment."

Unions Not Connected.

Igoe said the Allied Printing Trades Council had no connection with the strike, and the defendants' affidavits showed the unions named were not connected.

Judge Wade said the first thing to determine was if the alleged interference had been with the plaintiffs individually. If no injury had been done to one plaintiff, the court said, it would not issue an injunction. He said the motion to dismiss was well taken. He could see no theory, he said, on which the plaintiffs might maintain a joint action. "The open shop printers are not an entity which may sue or be sued," he said.

Employers Set Forth Claim.

The master printers alleged that their former employees had circulated false and malicious statements about the causes of the trouble, had called it a lockout instead of a strike, and attempted to place their former employers in a false light and obtain the sympathy of the public, had destroyed interstate business of the plaintiffs and had caused the plaintiffs a loss of $7500 a day since the beginning of the strike, which would make their losses up to July 9, the date of the filing of the petition, $42,500.

The defendants denied the allegations and detailed instances of alleged violence and inducement to violence on the part of the present employees and secret service men.

INJUNCTION AGAINST PRINTERS IS DENIED

Federal Judge Wade Holds There Has Been Misjoinder of Plaintiffs in the Suit.

A motion for dismissal of the suit filed by 15 members of the Open Shop Printers of St. Louis for a temporary injunction against the Allied Printing Trades Council and six member unions was sustained in the Federal Court today by Judge Wade of Iowa, who is sitting for Judge Paris, on the ground that there had been a misjoinder of plaintiffs.

He gave the plaintiffs until 2 p. m. to elect whether they would file individual petitions. At that hour, he announced that the proceedings would be continued for such plaintiffs as elected to petition separately and would be dismissed so far as the other plaintiffs were concerned. Charles A. Houts, attorney for the plaintiffs, intimated that it would be satisfactory for the pending proceeding to be dismissed and for individual petitions to be filed separately as new proceedings. The Judge thereupon dismissed the case.

The plaintiffs, operators of printing establishments, had asked for an order restraining union printers from interfering with their nonunion employees, who have been employed since May 1, when the printers did not go to work as a result of the controversy over the 44-hour week.

More Made for Dismissal.

At the outset of the hearing, Attorneys W. L. Igoe and Vance J. Higgs moved for dismissal of the suit on the ground that the bill was filed, not on behalf of individuals, but on behalf of an association, and that it alleged a conspiracy in restraint of trade, whereas it did not say that the plaintiff printers did an interstate business. NURSE GETS BEYOND HER
DEPTH, DIES IN RIVER

Verdict of Drowning, but Coroner Thinks Fright Contributed to Cause of Death.

Miss Rose Gray, 28 years old, a trained nurse, of 5650 Cote Brillante
avenue, was drowned in the Mississippi River at the Weber Lake Club, near Portage des Sioux and about 20 miles north of St. Louis, about 2 p. m. yesterday. A coroner's verdict of accidental drowning was returned, but Coroner Belding and Dr. F. J. Painter of St. Charles, who attempted to resuscitate Miss Gray,
said she had swallowed very little water and gave their opinion that her fright, when she discovered she was in deep water, largely contributed to her death.

Miss Gray's parents live in Belleville
and she resided with Mrs. August Klein at the Cote Brillante avenue address. With Mrs. Klein and a party of friends she went to the Weber Lake Club for a week-end trip. The party went in swimming yesterday afternoon in shallow water.
Miss Gray and Mrs. Klein went out from the shore and found the water was over their heads. Mrs.

Klein went under, screaming, and then Miss Gray went under.
Lawrence Weber and Raymond Brucker of St. Charles, in a boat, rescued Mrs. Klein, then rescued Miss Gray, who, they said, had been floating under water. Dr. Painter worked for 45 minutes in an effort to restore consciousness to Miss Gray. Miss Gray served for two years with the Red Cross.

Convincing Evidence!

Yesterday, Sunday, St. Louis advertisers, as customary, placed the bulk of their store news where it would do them the most good, viz. in the POST-DISPATCH. Both of the other Sunday newspapers, added together, failed to equal the POST-DISPATCH alone in Home-Merchants'
advertising. The figures:

Home-Merchants' Advertising—	Amount
POST-DISPATCH alone	$71,400
Globe-Democrat and Star combined	$56,700
POST-DISPATCH exceeded the Globe-Democrat and Star combined	$14,700

The Reason:
Advertising That Pays Stays!

The St. Louis circulation of the Sunday POST-DISPATCH is more than DOUBLE that of the Globe-Democrat, the nearest newspaper.

NEW SPEED RECORD SET
IN BARGE SHIPPING

Books, Loaded in Chicago, Carried to New Orleans and Unloaded in 12 Days.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
NEW ORLEANS, La., July 18.—J. W. Mooney, general agent of the Mississippi-Warrior barge line, today announced that a new record had been set by the line when a carload of books was brought from Chicago to New Orleans and unloaded, the entire transaction of loading them in the windy city and transporting them here and then unloading them having been accomplished in 12 days.

This record of the barge line for handling freight, however, is just a beginning of the big things that the line intends to do, declared Mooney. He said that a five-day departure schedule is being maintained both at New Orleans and St. Louis and that the barge line as a consequence was picking up freight that it could never get before. Mooney wants to encourage the trade between Chicago and New Orleans by the Mississippi River. A few steamships, the Chickasaw City has just arrived here from the Orient laden with burials and jute bolls, the bulk of which will be distributed in and around Chicago after being unloaded at St. Louis by barges of the line.

Mooney said that the average transit period down stream is six or seven days and that joint rates with all railroads are in effect and the 20 per cent differential is applicable between New Orleans and 15 states of the Mississippi Valley, that business is expected to pick up for the line since shipments are made on through bills of lading and rates include insurance and transfer and switching charges.

"The barge line," said Theodore Brent, general manager, "will fast develop the towns along the Mississippi River if the people of those towns will only go after the business. They only have to get the business for the barge line and we will bring it to New Orleans and place it aboard ship and send it to the seven seas. The business that the valley can do with the Old World is just beginning to be realized by most of the merchants of the valley and they are starting to patronize the line well."

Barges Carry Freight at Less Than Rail Rate and Make Profit.

The Government River Service, which is the barge line on the Mississippi River between St. Louis and New Orleans, carried 100,176 tons of freight in the months of April, May and June at a profit to the line on a rate 20 per cent less than the rail rate.

This volume of freight is the equivalent of 4,000 freight car loads as freight cars commonly are loaded. Revenue reports for the month of May just completed showed that the line's earnings fell off slightly from April, when a profit of several thousand dollars was recorded, but remained on the profit side after all overhead expenses had been deducted including a depreciation charge of $26,000.

Man Dies While Seated in Chair.
Emil Plumbbeck, 51 years old, of 714 Chouteau avenue, a freight handler, died suddenly in the kitchen of his home while seated in a chair at 8 a. m. yesterday. Mrs. Mary Roedner, a sister with whom he lived, told the police Plumbbeck had been in Florida for his health until recently when doctors advised him to return home. An inquest will be held.

'WARE WASTE AND WEAR WELL!

Human Bodies Are Poisoned by Their Own Waste. Most Illnesses Are Preventable.

The human body has to be heated and fine foods burned inside the body produce much waste. All this waste should be removed from the body regularly, thoroughly, daily, by the eliminative organs, which are the bowels, kidneys, skin, and to some extent the lungs. These should act in harmony if the bowels are inactive extra effort is required of the others, which easily become deranged. Many medicines will force bowel action temporarily but the after-effects are harmful. Many remedies are advertised, some of which have proven year after year to be reliable, efficient, and without harmful action or effect. Take Beecham's Pills for example. For over 70 years Beecham's has been a household word all over the world. 70 years of use by all sorts of folks, men, women and even children, have proven first, that Beecham's Pills do what is claimed for them; second, that they are harmless, do not produce bad effects. Some medicine forces Nature to unnatural action. Other medicines, like those contained in Beecham's Pills assist Nature, act mildly, persuade and hence produce no harmful effects. It is common to find families in which Beecham's have been used by several generations, their use handed down from father to son and from mother to daughter. That's the best possible recommendation for any remedy. Every druggist sells Beecham's, is glad to do so because he knows that their reputation has been won by merit.

Sani-Flush
REG. U. S. PAT. OFF.

Cleans Closet Bowls Without Scouring

Don't Scrub the Closet Bowl

It is as unnecessary as it is unpleasant. Sani-Flush will clean your closet bowl with scarcely any effort on your part. And it will clean it more thoroughly than you can do it by any other means—so thoroughly, in fact, that disinfectants are not necessary.

Sprinkle a little Sani-Flush into the bowl according to the directions on the can. Flush. Then watch the result. Markings, stains and incrustations all disappear, leaving the bowl and hidden trap as spotlessly white as new.

Sani-Flush cannot harm the plumbing.

WIFE FINDS HUSBAND DEAD WITH GAS TUBE IN MOUTH

Melchior Michel, 52 years old, was found by his wife at 3 p. m. yesterday in the kitchen of their home, 2926 Lemp avenue, with one end of the hose of the gas stove in his mouth. She carried him to a porch and called a doctor, who pronounced him dead, but the body was taken to the City Hospital in the vain hope that the pulmotor would save him. He left a note written in German which has not been translated. He had one cent in his pocket. Mrs. Margaret Haden, 81, a widow, was found by her son, Frank, at 11:30 a. m. yesterday, dead in bed, with a bottle which had contained hydrochloric acid on the floor beside the bed. The inquest resulted in a finding that the acid caused death. Two daughters testified the woman probably took the acid from a medicine cabinet, mistaking it for medicine. The body of William W. Lorimer,

56, of 1113 Grattan street, was found Mrs. Catherine Holland, 28, taken from the LaSalle Hotel, to the City Hospital, said she had swallowed 10 tablets of mercury after a quarrel with her husband, Oscar. Her condition is critical. In the river at Chouteau avenue at 6 o'clock last night. He had been taking treatment at the Alexian Brothers' Hospital but was at liberty to come and go. BURGLAR IN SILK
SHIRT IS DRIVEN
FROM SEVEN HOMES

Well-Dressed Thief Continues to Enter South Side Houses Through Screens After Being Fired Upon.

A burglar attired in Palm Beach trousers, striped silk shirt, straw hat, rubber-heeled shoes and no coat was frightened away by women from seven homes in South St. Louis between 2:30 and 4:15 a. m., yesterday. He was shot at and came near being captured several times. In each case he got into the house by cutting a screen. He obtained nothing.

At the home of Albert Meyer, 1605 Missouri avenue, he was detected by Mrs. Meyer as he was climbing into her room through a window. She yelled for help and as the burglar was running through a side yard her husband fired two shots at him.

Mrs. A. C. Schultz of 2007 Russell avenue was awakened by the burglar when he stumbled over a chair in her room. She asked who was there. The burglar replied: "Go back to sleep," and fled through the kitchen to the backyard.

Escapes Through Window. Mrs. May Schneider of 2609 Allen avenue tried to catch the burglar as he was ransacking her dining room. He grabbed her by the throat and she screamed. Her husband got a revolver but the burglar escaped by jumping through a window.

Mrs. Edward Seal, residing on the second floor at 1746 Simpson place, was awakened by a noise at her dresser. She told the burglar to get out and he told her that he had been sent to inform her that her downstairs neighbor was ill. Mrs. Seal went downstairs and found Mrs. Frank Hess asleep. The latter accompanied her to a side entrance and they met the burglar coming downstairs. He took his time until the women began screaming and then ran from the house.

Mrs. Julia Emory of 2018 South Jefferson avenue heard the burglar moving about in her room and, believing that it was her son, called him by name and asked him what he was doing. The burglar took her by the arm and told her to accompany him to the kitchen. When they reached the kitchen the burglar ran into the back yard and escaped.

Throws Match at Woman. Mrs. Stella Himmelsbach of 2342 Russell avenue saw the flicker of a match and called to her husband, Anthony Himmelsbach, who was in an adjoining room. The burglar threw the lighted match at her and jumped through a window.

Mrs. Wilbert Hiffley, 2104 Waverly place, was disturbed at 4 a. m. by footsteps in her room. She saw a man moving about and asked who was there. "Sh, I have a secret to tell you," he replied. Mrs. Hiffley called for help and the burglar fled.

The burglar's last experience was at the home of John Usinger, 2330 Russell avenue, at 4:15 a. m. "Get out of here," Mrs. Usinger cried, as she saw the man open a dresser drawer in her room. He got out. Locker Thief Gets Money and Jewelry at Bathing Pool.

A locker thief last night obtained clothing and jewelry valued at about $150 from the lockers of Sylvester Duran, 2729 Elliot avenue; Roy Whaley, 1902 Hickory street, and Frank Catmand, 1521 North Tenth street, while the owners were bathing in the pool at Manion's Park, 8600 South Broadway.

Jewelry valued at $100, a revolver and $4 in money were stolen last night in a burglary at the home of Percy Harvey, 2631A Baldwin street.

Fred Wiedemann of 2514 Glasgow avenue was held up in the garage behind his meat market at 2629 Cass avenue by two men at 9:30 p. m. and robbed of $70.

Martin Lawless of 2908 Easton avenue went to sleep in an alley in the rear of 2706 Franklin avenue at 1:30 a. m., yesterday. When he awoke four hours later he was minus his shoes, diamond ring, scarf pin, all valued at $138, and $2 in cash.

Joseph M. Mayer of 1108 South Fourth street was robbed of a watch valued at $45 while sleeping on the sidewalk at Fourth street and Chouteau avenue, at 5 a. m. yesterday.

Posed as College Graduate. Horace Ghiselm of 6938 Clemens avenue informed the police that a man posing as a graduate of Dartmouth College borrowed $5.50 from him last Friday, saying that he was staying at Hotel Statler and needed the money to tide him over until he received a check from Boston. Ghiselm went to the Statler Saturday to see if the man needed any further help and learned that he was not staying there.

Mrs. Anna Kline of 7515 Altmann avenue discovered that a certificate of deposit for $250 had been stolen from her home when she was informed last Saturday that a young man, accompanied by a woman, had drawn $125 from the account at the Bremen Bank. William Brown, a negro watchman, employed at the Gayety Theater Building, Fourteenth and Locust streets, confessed to the police last night that he had stolen five boxes of cigars from the saloon in the building conducted by Stephen Daniels. He told where he had sold the cigars at a saloon on Chestnut street and they were recovered.

To Have Perfect Skin

Throughout the Summer

These days the face needs special care and attention. Flying dust and dirt, the beating sun, are severe on any skin. Their despoiling effects are best overcome by the application of pure masticated wax. This keeps skin and pores in a healthy condition, the complexion beautifully white and spotless. Unmoored, freckled or roughened skin is actually absorbed by it. One ounce of masticated wax, obtainable at any drug store, is sufficient to completely renovate a sallow complexion. It is used like cold cream, allowed to remain on over night and washed off in the morning.

As the skin tends to expand in warm weather, causing wrinkles to form, a good astringent lotion should be used. Usually the ounce of powdered alum in a half pint of witch hazel. Bathe the face in this during the heat of the day or before going out for theater or sports. It is a remarkable skin tightener and wrinkle stayer.

Nature doesn't experiment
in taking care of teeth

WHY should you take chances when you can now buy a tooth paste that works in Nature's own way?

You'll Find That

LISTERINE
TOOTH PASTE

is the greatest help to Nature, because, being slightly acid (made so with a mild fruit acid), it increases the flow of saliva, and saliva is Nature's tooth preservative; that's one reason the salivary glands are in the mouth and not in the stomach.

This is a simple, true statement of facts about the care of teeth.

OWEN MOORE WEDS KATHRYN PERRY, HIS LEADING WOMAN

Mary Pickford's Former Husband
and Film Star Marry at Greenwich, Conn.

NEW YORK, July 18.—The marriage of Owen Moore, motion-picture actor, to Miss Kathryn Perry, his leading woman in several pictures, was announced today. Moore recently was divorced by Mary Pickford, who later married Douglas Fairbanks.

Miss Perry and Moore were married at Greenwich, Conn., Saturday, so it became known today. It was a quiet wedding, flavored with the romance of an elopement, for it is said the bride's mother did not know last night that her daughter had been married.

The pair motored from this city to Greenwich, Justice Baird read the civil ceremony. Miss Catherine McCarthy, who has been applauded on the screen, was bridesmaid, and Myron Selznick, best man. No one else was present.

The event was celebrated without fuss and feathers because the Attorney-General of Nevada has not quite made up his mind that the Pickford-Moore divorce was obtained in that State with strictest obedience to every form.

The Moores did not tell anyone where they will pass their honeymoon.

POETRY AND SALADS

Vergil was able to write poems that have been read for nearly 2,000 years;

Yet he thought it worth while to bend his mighty intellect to the description of a salad.

When translated, he uses 270 words to praise a Roman peasant's salad.

He probably would have used twice that number to praise the salads served at CHILDS.

Lettuce and tomato salad—luscious, ripe slices of tomato on tender, crisp leaves of lettuce—a piquant and refreshing luncheon special.

POLA NEGRI AN AGILE AND HEARTLESS CARMEN

"Gypsy Blood" at Two Houses
—Attractive Comedy at the King's—Harold Lloyd
at Missouri.

A lithe, fascinating and heartless Carmen is Pola Negri. In "Gypsy Blood," now being shown at the New Grand Central and West End Lyric theaters and the Lyric Skydome. The story differs in no essential from the operatic version of "Carmen," or from the rival film versions shown here several years ago, in which Geraldine Farrar and Theda Bara appeared. The present production is very strong in acting and in direction.

This Carmen gives little time to the languorous glances which some operatic stars have used in the role. Direct action and fast work constitute her method. Her fancy for men, and her fickleness toward them, are subject to her loyalty to her gypsy tribe, and to her love for finery and personal display.

She annexes the weak and complacent dragoon, Don Jose, because she likes him, and because he can be made to help the smugglers; she attaches herself to Escamillo, the bull-fighter, because she in turn, likes him, and that she may ride in his carriage to the bullring. Toward Don Jose, dejected and desperate, she shows a spirit of care and protection, which does not imply any obligation to withhold herself from other men. She appears to calculate upon the extent to which his jealousy will go. At the last, finding she has missed her calculation, she accepts the inevitable with fatalistic calmness.

An incidental visit of Carmen to the port of Gibraltar, made in order to lure an officer into the smugglers' clutches, shows the star in garb not unlike that of an American summer girl. Her dancing, for a café gathering, and for Don Jose alone, is agile and graceful. The streets of Seville and the bullring are scenes of large and well-handled mass pictures, and the mountain episodes are shown with scenic realism.

Harold Lloyd in Good Comedy. The Missouri presents an exceptionally good bill this week, consisting of a roaring Harold Lloyd comedy and a very excellent melodrama called "Proxies." Although slapstick, pure and simple, the Lloyd picture, with the star in the role of a bogus Lord, is enormously funny, and, moreover, affords some sumptuous and beautiful settings.

"Proxies" is that rarest of all things—a movie melodrama with a plot that appears to be original. There are, of course, reminiscent touches in it, but on the whole it gives the impression of being new. It deals chiefly with the activities of an ex-convict who has become a butler in a rich man's home, and whose gratitude to the latter causes him to pay him a singular service in the end.

The part is taken by Norman Kerry. This Kerry can act. His performance of the butler, into whose rigid dignity he nevertheless manages to inject a touch of incorrigible ribaldry, is a finished performance, worth seeing. The rest of the cast is acceptable.

Mary Miles Minter in Comedy. "Moonlight and Honey-suckle," in which Mary Miles Minter is featured, on the King's bill, is from a stage success of the same name. It is a fanciful and entertaining treatment of the trial marriage idea in its mildest form. The heroine, daughter of an Arizona member of the United States Senate, has some of the accomplishments which Miss Bonita Brander used to display in Hoyt's "Texas Steer." When a Congressman and a Washington society youth become rivals for her affection, she arranges an informal house party for each, at a country place in Maryland. She takes her Indian nurse as chaperone, and invites the Congressman to visit them over the week-end, that she may have a chance to observe his ways. He does not know that the other man has a similar invitation from Monday to Wednesday.

The Congressman fails to qualify, and is ruled out of the matrimonial race. The second man arrives, ahead of time, and finds the Congressman's belongings. The Senator and his bride appear, and last of all comes the girl's Arizona suitor, with his revolver on his chest, rather than on his hip. As is usual in comedy, everything is said and done except the obvious thing of blurring out the facts. But the result is that the girl, who has grown tired of Washington anyway, has a chance to leave it and get back to the dear old ranch life. Miss Minter is at her best in a riding scene with the Congressman, where his horse is too much for him, and in a later frolic scene, where the Congressman's prosy political recital is too much for her.

"Love" in the Glaum-Ing. Louise Glaum, in "Love," at the Capitol, has the role of a young working woman with a little sister on her hands, and a fiancé who has gone to South America to make his fortune. As everyone knows who has seen "The Eastest Way," or its derivative stage and screen plays, wealthy brokers are always looking for chances to place working girls in palatial establishments, with Pompeian baths, squads of servants and wardrobes full of gowns. In this case, the transition from tenement plainness to apartment elegance is shown in allegory. Afterward, to her returned fiancé, the young woman says, "I tried to wait, Toni, I tried to wait." But the details of this commendable effort are not shown, and it does not appear that it lasted long. A little sister is not perceptibly older when she, too, gets a new home, in the country, with a nurse, a groom and a pony, all provided by big sister.

At a full-dress cabaret, the broker strays after a charmer whose methods are those of the "kissing blonde" type, and our heroine forthwith determines to free herself from this man's power, by getting so much of his money that she can dispense with him. Getting a market tip by a feat of listening in, she plunges with the broker's money, and achieves independence for herself and little sister. She flees, but the broker hunts her up at his leisure, and he becomes insistent. In the course of an automobile spin, on taking her "back to the old life," Pompeian bath and all. She runs the machine over a cliff, killing the broker and nearly killing herself, just before her returned fiancé comes to the rescue. Apparently she escapes prosecution for homicide, for it is recorded that her "great sacrifice" makes all well. It was a sacrifice, literally, in the original sense of the word, with the broker as the victim. The cabaret scene, showing an exotic stage production, is elaborate. The acting of Joseph Kilgour and James Kirkwood, in support of the star, is excellent.

HOUSE ROADS BILL FILLED WITH JOKERS; PLANS FOR STATE SYSTEM ARE MENACED

Measure Declared to Be Skillfully Designed to Prevent the Construction of Connected Hard-Surfaced Highways.

By a Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.
JEFFERSON CITY, July 18.—Examination of the Senate bill, introduced by Senator Ralph, chairman of the Senate Committee on Highways, has revealed that the bill is filled with jokers and is so written that, while purporting to be a compromise of mud roads and to be a hard-surfaced road bill, it is in fact skillfully designed to prevent the carrying out of plans for a State system of connected hard surface roads.

The bill is drawn to eliminate entirely the idea of a State system and to create a collection of county systems.

"The bill is wrong in every important detail," Senator Ralph said,
and as for me, I will stay in Jefferson City until next summer's session. I was amazed to learn the contents of the House bill.

Ralph Examines Bill.
The first opportunity for an examination of the completed House bill came when printed copies were returned from the printer. Information as to its contents previously had been from statements of members of the committee and from a discussion of disconnected portions of the bill, which did not reveal its real purpose. That information,
while true as to details as far as it went, did not disclose the other mass
of details which make up the completed bill.

There is every indication that the Senate, which voted unanimously for the Ralph bill last week, will stand with him and, if it does, there will be a little hope for speedy road legislation and an early adjournment of the Legislature unless the House rejects the House committee's bill.

One of the outstanding jokers of the measure is the rejection of the Ralph bill designation of gravel roads as hard-surfaced roads and instead designating clay-bound gravel roads as hard-surfaced roads.

"That designation strikes me as perfidious," Ralph said, "and it never will go in the law with my vote. To me it means that the way is left open for making dirt roads throughout a great portion of the State. In Missouri counties the natural soil
is a dirt and clay containing gravel.
Will not roads made of that material be clay-bound gravel roads? What will the proportion of gravel be?
Would not the mere grading of a road through such soil be the construction of clay-bound gravel roads
under this definition?"

"I presume the defense of the designation will be that it provides for the use of clear gravel with a clay binder, but I cannot see that it will not equally have the other interpretation. I have been unable to find any generally accepted definition of the word 'clay binder' in the dictionary, and I can see no reason for the use of the words 'clay binder'
except to permit the use of dirt
with a little gravel in it."

Changes Made in House.
Ralph went through the House
bill very carefully, examining section by section, noting the changes made from his bill and by studying the portions of his bill which had been eliminated, the language substituted for his language, and the additions made by the House Committee, arriving at a decision as to the exact purpose of the bill.

"No highway Department which can be controlled by a Governor can function independently and in the sole interest of the people," said Ralph. "As the Governor, making
the first appointments, must necessarily name all the commissioners,
having no opportunity to avoid naming the commissioners during the present administration, and appointed by Gov. Hyde, but it was possible to prevent an incoming Governor from having complete control over the department."

Appointment of Commission.
"In my bill I provided for the appointment of four commissioners for terms of two, four, six and eight years, with their successors appointed for six-year terms. Under this plan no Governor, under the existing constitution, could change the composition of the commission. The plan of the term of the present administration, would have the appointment of more than two commissioners. No incoming Governor could for political or other reasons upset the work of the department."

The House bill seeks to abolish
this safeguard.

The bill provides for the appointment of the first four commissioners for one, two, three and four years, with their successors appointed for four-year terms. Under this plan every incoming Governor will have the appointment of all four commissioners. I consider it abso-

WILSON REFUSED BRITISH REQUEST TO CANCEL DEBT

Former President's Letter to Lloyd George Placed in Congressional Record by Senator Lodge.

"PAYMENT IN DUE COURSE EXPECTED"

Wilson Said Funding of Obligations Would Strengthen Friendly Relations Between Nations.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, July 18.—A letter from former President Wilson to Premier Lloyd George of Great Britain, declaring that the United States
could not consider proposals to cancel or exchange Great Britain's indebtedness to this nation, was placed in the Congressional Record today
by Senator Lodge of Massachusetts, Republican leader.

Mr. Wilson's letter, dated in October, 1920, was submitted to the Senate Foreign Relations Committee by former Secretary Houston. It said that "suggestions looking to the cancellation or exchange" were made to the former President in Paris. The communication apparently was replied to by the British Premier's letter made public last week in the Senate Finance Committee hearings.

Mr. Wilson's letter said that the position of the United States had not changed and "it is not prepared to consent to the remission of any part of the debt of Great Britain to the United States."

Mr. Wilson, it appeared, urged Lloyd George to find the debt paying this. "It is not done, and it barrage of the Treasury would be necessitate steps to collect unpaid interest."

Expressing "confident expectation
of the payment in due course," Mr.
Wilson added:

"It is felt that the funding of these demand obligations of the British Government will do more to strengthen the friendly relations between America and Great Britain
than would any other course of dealing with the same."

Reed Asks for Information.
"Has there been any correspondence
or negotiations with reference to
our Government accepting any of the German bonds after they have been
turned over to the allied Governments as reparations bonds?" Senator Reed, Democrat, of Missouri,
asked Assistant Secretary Wads-
worth, who accompanied Mellon.

"I cannot recall any official communication from any Government in regard to the extent of the tentative
agreement which was made by England, France and the United States,
that possibly each Government would
take German bonds in payment for
the amounts Belgium had borrowed
up to armistice day," replied Wadsworth. "That agreement was signed by the President and submitted to Congress."

Mellon told Senator Reed that he
did not see why Germany's obligations should be accepted in refunding
the Belgian loan and did not expect
the question of accepting obligations of
one of the allies for those of another
to arise, although it was possible that
a condition might be presented in
the negotiations where such a substitution might be advantageous.

20 MILLION PERSONS REPORTED NEAR STARVATION IN RUSSIA

Cereals Said to Be Opening in

to Be Drying Up.

By the Associated Press.
BERLIN, July 18.—Twenty million persons are on the verge of starvation in the drought-stricken sections of Russia, subsisting mainly on moss,
grass and the bark of trees, according to the Vossische Zeitung, which quotes information from "reliable Russian sources."

Refugees are reported to be pouring into Moscow and Petrograd by thousands and to be fleeing hopelessly in every direction.

The parched earth, it is asserted,
is opening up, great crevices and
wells, and rivers are drying up.
Foliage has withered on the trees
and a number of villages are reported on fire.

All cattle in the stricken districts
have been slaughtered to provide food, but it is believed impossible to avert a catastrophe unless food is received from outside sources.

HARDING OPPOSES TARIFF ON CRUDE AND FUEL OIL AND HOUSE CUTS IT OUT

In Letter to Fordney President Suggests
"Bargaining Provision" to Protect U. S.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, July 18.—The proposed duty on crude and fuel oil was struck out of the Fordney tariff bill
today by vote of the House. The vote was 187 for elimination of the duty to 79 against. There will be another vote on the bill Thursday.

The President's letter of June 20
to Chairman Fordney of the House Ways and Means Committee, opposing imposition of a duty on crude petroleum and fuel oil and suggesting a bargaining provision "to guard against the levy of duties
against us," was presented to the House today by Fordney.

The text differed materially from recently published versions of the communication and, in reply to questions, Fordney said there was another letter from the President
which he did not propose to read.

HOUSE AGAINST PROVISIONS OF JUDICIAL PRIMARY BILL

Committee Votes to Report Favorably
With Exception of Convention Feature.

By the Associated Press.
JEFFERSON CITY, July 18.—The House Committee on Elections this afternoon voted against provisions of the State primary bill passed by the Senate for the nomination of Judges of the Supreme Court, Courts
of Appeal and Circuit Courts by political party conventions and not by primary.

The committee voted to report favorably to the bill with the exception of the convention feature. As reported, the bill contains provisions for strengthening the friendly relations between America and Great Britain
than would any other course of dealing with the same."

Reed Asks for Information.
"Has there been any correspondence
or negotiations with reference to
our Government accepting any of the German bonds after they have been
turned over to the allied Governments as reparations bonds?" Senator Reed, Democrat, of Missouri,
asked Assistant Secretary Wads-
worth, who accompanied Mellon.

"I cannot recall any official communication from any Government in
regard to the extent of the tentative
agreement which was made by England, France and the United States,
that possibly each Government would
take German bonds in payment for
the amounts Belgium had borrowed
up to armistice day," replied Wadsworth. "That agreement was signed
by the President and submitted to Congress."

Mellon told Senator Reed that he
did not see why Germany's obliga-
tions should be accepted in refunding
the Belgian loan and did not expect
the question of accepting obligations of
one of the allies for those of another
to arise, although it was possible that
a condition might be presented in
the negotiations where such a substi-
tution might be advantageous.

BUY COAL, HOOPER'S ADVICE

"Convinced" Price of Soft Variety
at Mine "Is Not Too High."

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, July 18.—Secretary Hoover has advised public utility companies throughout the country to buy their winter coal supply
instead of waiting for possible lower prices.

"I am convinced," said Hoover's letter, made public here today, "that,
due to the general depression, the prices of bituminous coal at the mines
is not too high at the present time."

STANDARD OIL CO. SECRETLY CONTROLLED LESLIE-JUDGE PUBLICATIONS, INQUIRY SHOWS

Bankruptcy Suit Reveals Hidden Corporate
Hold on Publicity Channel Which Was Concealed in Statements to U. S. Government.

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, July 18.—Beneath
the formal news statements appearing recently regarding the bankruptcy of the Leslie-Judge Co., publishers, a story has been unearthed
of Wall Street financial operations
and hidden corporate control of publicity channels.

Among the facts established in the investigation the following are paramount:

1. The Standard Oil Co. has been the controlling financial factor in the Leslie-Judge Co. for more than 10 years. A report many times heard, but never before substantiated.

2. Neither Leslie's Weekly nor Judge ever published this information,
despite the Federal statute requiring the publication at least once yearly of the names of known holders of bonds or other securities.

3. The dummy "for the Standard Oil Co." in such publication in Leslie's and Judge was the City Real Estate Co., an "inside" corporation
of the Title Guarantee and Trust Co. of New York, which guaranteed
the bonds of the Leslie-Judge Co., which mortgage recently was declared invalid by Federal Judge Manton on the ground that it contained "a constructively fraudulent
publication" that permitted the publishing company to sell all the property mortgaged except the names
and copyrights of the two periodicals.

4. The Standard Oil Co., to get from under the threatened losses,
obligations and possibility of legal difficulties involved in its secret
relationship with the publishing company, sought some one upon whom to unload securities of par value of $240,000 purchased for $178,000 and found William Green, head of the publishing corporation bearing his name.

5. As a result of negotiations,
Green personally bought from the Standard Oil Co. these securities, represented by stock bonds, mandates, for $200,000, of which he paid $25,000 in cash and gave the Standard Oil Co. his notes, unsecured and undiscounted, for the rest.

6. Mr. Green is now president of the Leslie-Judge Co., all the creditors of which have agreed to accept 25 cents on the dollar for the bills
owing to them, while Standard Oil,
by its transactions with Green, recovered 34 per cent of its investment.

Brady Estate Interested.
The investigation of the Leslie-Judge bankruptcy was undertaken
in consequence of a report that Standard Oil Co. had controlled the concern before the bankruptcy, but is in control of it now. The records
do not bear out this latter report,
but reveal that the bankruptcy proceedings were initiated by William Green five days after he came into possession of the securities held by Standard Oil.

The proceedings also served to show that another Wall Street power, the estate of Anthony N. Brady, represented by James Cox Brady and Nicholas F. Brady, was financially interested in the Leslie-Judge Company.

According to the records in the U. S. District Court, large creditors of the Leslie-Judge Co., among them
Doubleday, Page & Co., the Charles Schweitzer Press and the West Virginia Pulp & Paper Co. had been endeavoring by co-operative action
with John A. Schleicher, former president of the concern, to put it on its feet, without going into the bankruptcy court.

However successful or otherwise
this co-operative direction of the company's affairs was destined to be,
the co-operators were joined from their course February 18, 1921, by the information conveyed by William Green to Frank Doubleday of the Doubleday, Page concern, that he,
Green, had come into ownership of all the Standard Oil holdings in the Leslie-Judge Company.

Whereupon, Doubleday and his associates charged a plot to wreck
their efforts to reconstitute the business and by throwing it into bankruptcy squeeze the creditors and place control in other hands.

In an affidavit on file in the United States Court, Green denied such intentions, declared he desired
only to revitalize the business and asserted that Frank Doubleday, after making these charges, told him:

"If anyone is going to put this concern in bankruptcy it will be me
and not you."

Receiver Is Named.
According to depositions by Green
and his associates, the Doubleday,
Page & Co., the Charles Schweitzer
Press and the West Virginia Pulp &
Paper Co., refused to cooperate with him, and February 23, five days
after his transaction with Standard Oil, he petitioned the court to appoint a receiver and declare the Leslie-Judge Company an involuntary bankrupt. Thomas B. Fidler was appointed receiver and John J.

HOUSE ROADS BILL FILLED WITH JOKERS; MENACES STATE PLAN

where else, the House committee disclosed its purpose of depriving the highway commission of power by eliminating the section which is 16 in the Ralph bill. This provided:

"Section 16. The decision of the commission as to the location of any State highway, the type, manner and cost of construction thereof, shall be final and conclusive, but said commission shall retain jurisdiction and shall have power and authority to change, relocate or abandon any part of a State road, whenever in its judgment such change, relocation or abandonment is to the best interest of the State, and due investigation and hearing by the commission and for good reason and just cause."

"The elimination of this section can mean only one thing," Ralph said. "That is that the House committee is seeking to fix definitely the location of the roads according to the individual desires of the House members, and completely without regard to the engineering knowledge which would be at the disposal of the commission. It is the attempt to substitute legislative log rolling for technical skill and knowledge. Would the people of Missouri stand for it? Would the people of the counties stand for it? I don't believe they will when they know what is going on."

For 7000-Mile System.
Ralph then went to section 23 of his bill, which also has been eliminated from the House bill, disclosing the determination by the House committee that its detailed designation of a county highway system of 7000 miles shall be preserved and the 6000-mile system of the Ralph bill destroyed.

"When the people voted the $50,000,000 bond issue," Ralph said, they understood they were voting for a 6000-mile system. They realized that 6000 miles of hard-surfaced road could be built for $50,000,000, plus the Federal aid, and that was what they voted for. Anybody knows that 7000 miles of hard-surfaced road cannot be built for that amount of money. The House Committee scheme is for local county systems, and not for a State system."

Further restrictions of the power of the State highway system are disclosed in Section 22 of the House bill by the insertion of the words "not inconsistent with this act." The Ralph bill gave to the commission the power to make all final decisions regarding the designation of roads and the construction of roads, but the House committee's bill gives such power only when not inconsistent with the provisions of the act, and the act justifies the routes of the roads and surrounds virtually all the acts of the commission with such restrictions that it has practically no exercise of discretion.

Ralph said it would be impossible to effect any sort of a compromise on road legislation which would permit to go into the law the House commission provision requiring the setting aside of road funds as rapidly as they accumulated to the counties for the building of clay-bound gravel roads. The House bill contradicts itself in its provisions in this regard.

In one place in section 23 it contains the statement: "The funds so apportioned, allotted and set apart for construction of such State roads or for refunding purposes in each county shall be expended only in the county for the benefit of which same are apportioned, allotted and set apart."

As to Appropriations.
In another place in the same section is the statement: "No appropriation shall be made by the State Highway Department to any county for a higher type road than gravel or clay-bound gravel until two cross-country highways have been apportioned sufficient funds to construct and complete them up to the standard required by the Federal Government for a gravel road or a clay-bound gravel road of not less than 12 feet wide suitable for such county, after which time the State Highway Commission may make such additional apportionment to such highways as in its judgment may be necessary for the construction of a higher type road."

In another place in the same section is the statement: "The provisions of this section shall not be construed to prevent the beginning of construction on roads of higher type than gravel or clay-bound gravel at the same time as the construction of gravel or clay-bound gravel roads may begin."

This entire section was attacked by Ralph, who said it would defeat the entire purpose of hard-surfaced road legislation.

"That section can mean only one thing in spite of its concluding provision that nothing is to be construed as preventing the construction of higher-type road than clay-bound gravel at the same time gravel roads are being constructed. This concluding provision sounds well but it means nothing."

"In the first place there is the provision that funds shall be allotted and apportioned as they are received in the State Treasury. There can be no question that this means the money must be actually on hand when the apportionment is made because a little farther along the section contains the words 'apportioned, allotted and set apart.' You cannot set apart funds unless you have the funds. Now, according to this, there must be set aside sufficient funds to build two cross-country clay-bound gravel roads in each county, approximately 7000 miles of road, to cost not less than $50,000,000, before any money can be set aside to build higher-type roads."

"Taking the minimum figure of $5000 a mile, this means there must be accumulated in the treasury $42,000,000."

REBUTS

Spent your vacation in Minnesota this year. Write today for Aerial View Map. Ten Thousand Lakes of Minnesota Association. 720 Ryan, Saint Paul.

600,000 and that amount must be set aside for the gravel roads before anything can be set aside for higher type roads. It has been the plan to issue $10,000,000 of bonds the first year and $5,000,000 each year thereafter for 10 years. Under this House plan there would be no opportunity to set aside anything for higher-type roads for eight years, because it would be eight years before there was sufficient money on hand to apportion for the gravel roads."

Alternative Action.
"The only alternative would be to issue virtually the entire $50,000,000 of bonds the first year, which would be a betrayal of the people of the State who voted the bonds. In the campaign for the bond issue there was scattered broadcast a table showing just how the automobile license fund would take care of the principal and interest and would retire the bonds in a definite number of years. This could not be done, and if all the bonds were issued at one time, and if they were the interest would amount to $9,000,000 in 30 years, instead of a little more than $30,000,000 under our plan."

"Nobody could make anything out of this section of the House bill except a scheme to build cheap roads throughout the entire State before any money would be available for hard-surfaced roads in the sections of the State where traffic requirements are greatest and leading up to the market centers, where the demands of the farmers for hard-surfaced roads are the greatest."

"Certainly I cannot be expected to agree to any such scheme, and I never will agree to it. Road legislation can be prevented at this session of the Legislature, but, unless I am mistaken about the temper of the Senate, no such scheme as that can be foisted on the State."

Next in the House bill comes a section under which narrow roads could be built, roads which would not take care of the traffic. The Ralph bill provided for 40-foot rights of way, and that "the surfaced roadway shall be of sufficient width to meet the requirements of the reasonably expected traffic thereon." The House bill provides for the 40-foot right of way, but eliminates the provision regarding the surfaced roadway.

"That looks as if it means that the way is being left open for some nine-foot roads," Ralph said. "By all means the bill must contain a provision governing the surfaced roadway."

McCullough-Morgan System.
The Ralph bill adopted the present State system of the McCullough-Morgan law, approximately 8000 miles long, but gave the commission power to change roads of the system when, after a hearing, changes were deemed necessary. The House bill sets out in detail for each county just how the roads shall run, just what towns they shall connect, and gives to the Highway Commissioner virtually no power to change them. Examination of the routes disclosed that while in the main the present system has been followed, changes have been made in it by the House Committee to meet the individual desires of members of the House. This is an example of Ralph's contention ever since he began studying the road question, that legislative designation would mean political roads instead of scientific roads."

One example is in Dallas County, which is represented by Representative Wingo. After many hearings resulting from a local fight the present Highway Commission laid out a north and south road through Dallas County from the Hickory County line to the Greene County line. Some citizens wanted one route toward the west side of the county. Others wanted the road farther east. Because of high hills on the west road the commission decided to follow the farther east route. The House bill follows the hill road.

Reimbursement of Counties.

Another joker appears in section 30 of the House bill, which deals with reimbursement of counties for roads already built and taken into the State system, the reimbursement to be in additional roads in the county. The Ralph bill provided for reimbursement to the extent of the proportion of value of the county's investment in the road at the time it was built. The House bill provides for reimbursement, even including the money the county received from the State and Federal Government to aid in building the road.

But that is not the joker. That detail was known and involves a debatable question. The joker is in this paragraph:

"Reimbursement shall be in the form of additional roads to be constructed in that county or other civil subdivision, connecting with the State system and constructed under State supervision or, at the option of the County Court, civil subdivision or persons interested, all or a part of such sum shall be used to construct roads of higher type, more expensive, or better in any way than the road proposed by the department as part of the State highway."

"That," Ralph said, "specifically gives to the County Court or persons interested, whoever they may be, the right to decide what kind of road shall be built with State money, cases in which counties are being reimbursed for roads taken into the State system. It takes away from the commission, which represents the State and gives to the County Court the spending of State money from the bond issue fund."

"I think I am certain of my ground when I say that the Senate never will agree to that. It is exactly what we have been fighting against. I thought the county courts had been eliminated from having anything to do with the spending of the $50,000,000 bond issue money."

In one of the concluding sections of the House bill there is a provision limiting the expenditure of money for road maintenance to $120 a mile per year.

Maintenance of Roads.
"That appears to be a deliberate attempt to prevent any real maintenance," Ralph said. "Dirt roads could be well dragged for $120 a mile per year, but that is about all. That sum would not support a patrol system, and the roads cannot be maintained in any other way. In Wisconsin, where they have the maintenance system down to a science, and where they have good roads because they do maintain them, the cost of maintenance runs about $300 a mile a year for gravel roads."

"If it is the purpose to build dirt roads, drag dirt roads and have dirt roads, the purpose can be accomplished under the bill, but nothing better can be accomplished."

"This road question has now reached a very definite point and it is up to those who want to prevent the waste of the $50,000,000 and who want to build systems which will meet Missouri's requirements to get into action. The issues are very clearly drawn. We can have good roads under the Senate bill, or we can have no roads under the House bill."

"I hoped on my early information as to the contents of the House bill that many of the obstacles were out of the way and that it was only a question of a few days when by calm conferences we would get a road bill which would pass both houses and which would be the right kind of a bill. But unless the House is willing to look at this question from a State standpoint instead of from a local standpoint we are for a long way."

"I cannot bring myself to stand for a waste of the $50,000,000 just to be able to say we have passed a road bill. It would be much better to pass no bill than to pass a bill like the House bill."

support on the part of the Navy Department greatly embarrassed and delayed his negotiations with the allied naval commanders.

Admiral Sims was justified in opposing the laying of the North Sea mine barrage during the first few months of the war, when the available mines were unsatisfactory. Later Sims advocated and did everything in his power to complete the construction of the great barrage.

"We find that substantially all of the recommendations made by Rear Admiral Sims during the first months of the war, were later adopted, after delays ranging from a few weeks to a year."

Findings of Minority.

The minority summarized its findings as follows:

"That the major charges made by Admiral Sims, such as that the Navy Department by delays, prolonged the war four months, caused the loss of 2,500,000 tons of shipping, 500,000 lives and the needless expenditure of $15,000,000,000, were entirely disproved."

"That the few charges which appeared to have some justification in fact—such as that for a time Admiral Sims was not furnished all the staff he desired or needed—are so trivial in comparison with the vast operations and great activities of the navy during the war, that they hardly deserve serious consideration."

"That in no instance was it shown that any or all of the delays or 'military errors,' alleged by Admiral Sims had any serious or material effect on the general campaign."

"That while no navy is ever 100 per cent perfect, the United States Navy was as well prepared for war as was any other navy at our entrance into the war."

"That at no time did the navy fail to perform promptly and efficiently every task that was imposed upon it."

Transport Record Cited.
"That in its major operations, such as making possible the transportation of 2,000,000 American soldiers across the Atlantic without the loss of a soldier on an American troopship bound for France, the United States Navy made a record never before equaled in history."

"That in its manifold activities not only in operations and transportation, but in shipbuilding, in recruiting and training a personnel of over half a million men, the navy exhibited an energy and efficiency never excelled."

"That the uniform success of our operations amply demonstrated the wisdom of the policies adopted and the plans carried out by the Navy Department and its responsible officials in the conduct of the war."

"That instead of censure or criticism the entire navy—the department as well as the service—deserves the hearty commendation of this committee and of the American people."

MRS. OCTAVIA BERRY, 70 YEARS OLD, of 3312 Texas avenue, fell down three steps in the rear of a home where she was visiting at 218 East Marceau avenue last night, suffering a compound fracture of the right arm and internal injuries. She was taken to the city hospital.

First day of the Henley Regatta in England, showing stream jammed with pleasure craft. —Underwood & Underwood.

N. H. NEWS from Princeton, Ind., states that native-born coal miners have started to chase out foreign-born miners who had settled down there in order to make a living for themselves and their families. This is characteristic of America. Nowhere else, perhaps, is the belief in private violence for the purpose of eliminating an unpleasant situation so deep-rooted as in America. Whoever investigates the psychology of the American masses has to recognize that it stands yet in a very low grade of evolution. This is proved by the many lynch cases, happening day after day, and by such demonstrations of mob violence as the recent riot at Tulsa. It has been stated that the foreign-born miners at Tulsa were chased out the foreigners were members of the "United Mine Workers of America" and that the foreign-born workers were also members of the same organization. We do not know if this is true, but anything is possible. We must realize that the American people are not a very powerful as in most countries. Whereas the unionized workers of other countries well understand today's economic system, it is not so in America. The happenings in Princeton no doubt result from the same mental attitude built up during the years of the American miners' struggle, and who try to inculcate in the heads of foreign-born workers some kind of "Americanization" which they themselves do not understand very well. They do not believe in a slow and natural assimilation, but they are convinced that the only way to get out asking a question and without any delay, has to swallow down every nonsense which they consider to be American. Such tactics, of course, will bring about nothing else than misunderstanding.

MORE TRUTH THAN POETRY

By James J. Montague.

THE LAST CHANCE.

Ex-Kaiser Wilhelm has forbidden one of his sons to act for the movies.

We read with surprise of the fact
That His Highness—no longer serene—
Has told his young son he can't act
As the kid hoped to do—for the screen.
We say with surprise—for we really believe
That the elderly Emp should importune
The youngster to jump at this chance to retrieve
The vanishing family fortune.

He hardly can hope, we assume (Having barely escaped with his skin)
That there's going to be any more room
For Kings of his blood in Berlin.
In most of the former Imperial zones
There is little but trouble or terror;
And the chances for jobs as the warmers of thrones
Are fast getting rarer and rarer.

But if this young Prince got a place
In the claque-theatrical art,
And the public should fall for his face
As they do for, say William S. Hart,
He soon would be rich and inflated with pride,
And featured in picture and story.
And could wear better clothes and could put on more side
Than his dad at the height of his glory.

So why shut the gate to romance?
Why tell the poor kid he cannot Embrace the last ghost of a chance
The Kaiserlich outfit has got?
He might be a bust with the playgoing folk
In spite of his once royal station.
But he couldn't be possibly half such a joke
As his father was ruling a nation.

Di's Tub.

We have communicated with the spirit of Diogenes.
"Ask him," we requested the medium,
"ask him if he really lived in a tub!"

The table moved nervously, the medium snored, and from her lips
came the very voice of the great Athenian:
"I owned a yacht, you call it a houseboat," said the sage. "I lived on it. The jealous yachtsmen of the times called it a tub. Gimme a drink,
I say, gimme!"
The voice died away, but we had solved a mystery.—Richmond Times-Dispatch.

Taking an Interest.

Farmer A: So your boy's got home from college. Does he take any interest in the farm?

Farmer B: He's beginning to. He's been showin' me where we could have a dandy golf course an' how easy 'twould be to turn the barn
into a garage.—Boston Transcript.

A Slip of Memory!

Parent: My daughter tells me you are a church member. What church
do you belong to?

Son: Why—the—er— Name
of them over.—Cartoons Magazine.

Too Frivolous.

This husband was not exactly mean
but he was careful, and each week
he examined his wife's cash account,
with growls and grumbles, and he delivered himself of the following:
"Look here, Sarah, 'mustard plasters, 50 cents; two teeth extracted,
$3. There's $3.50 spent in one week for your private pleasure."—San Francisco Chronicle.

The Feminine Taste.

Madge: You shouldn't have refused to go with him to the concert.
Marjorie: That's no kind of place to ask a girl in these days. He should have known I wanted to go to the prizefight.—New York Sun.

Just Think!

Little Arthur: Oh, mamma, I wish
I had a neck like a giraffe.
Mother: But why, my dear?
Little Arthur: Just think how long
I could taste my candy.—Houston
Post.

Considerate.

"Would you mind driving a little slower, old man?"
"Not getting scared, are you?"
"Oh, no, nothing like that, but I'd hate to take an unfair advantage of my life insurance company."
—New York Sun.

For a Bigger Navy.

Former Secretary Daniels was talking to a group of reporters at the army and navy air race at Mincola.
"It is hard, boys," he said, "to keep selfishness out of politics and political questions. You find the selfish point of view dominating nearly everywhere. 'Do you think,' one Washington lady asked another, 'that we ought to have more battleships?'
"I certainly do," the second lady answered. "I've attended all the recent naval balls, and there are nothing like enough battleships to furnish Lieutenants for the ladies who want to dance."—Pittsburgh Chronicle-Telegraph.

Cat.

Miss Cecile: I was very much admired at the wedding reception yesterday. I noticed one gentleman
never took his eyes off me the whole evening.
Miss Sharpe: Had he a black mustache waxed at the ends?
"Yes."
"I know him. He is a detective.
He was there to watch the presents."
—Edinburgh Scotsman.

Way It Goes.

Flatbush: Tolly smoke, look at poor old Millionbucks; poor as a church mouse. Where did all his money go to?
Bensonhurst: Went into the umbrella insurance business. Went broke the first week.—Detroit News.

A Hint for Poets.

"I'd like to know how to get this poem published. I've sent it to a dozen editors, but it's of no use."
"You might put it in an envelope,
leave it on your table, and then commit suicide. All the papers
would have it next day."—Edinburgh Scotsman.

Proving It.

Harrington: He used to say that the girl he afterward married was
"some chicken," and now he has deserted her.
Mrs. Carrington: Yes, he has left her to scratch for a living.—Houston Post.
